

A JOB TO DIE FOR?

Liverpool is like a big building site, with high profits on contracts worth millions of pounds for construction companies. Safety is of low priority. Many of the jobs are going to casual contractors whose workers who are easier to hire and fire.

Do we want a City of Culture or a City of Carnage?

Meeting at the Casa
Hope Street, Liverpool
Monday 23 January 2006
7.00pm

Speakers:

Tony O'Brien, Construction Safety Campaign (CSC),
National Secretary

Roy Bleasdale, Chair, CSC, Merseyside

Sid Fenlon, Secretary, CSC, Merseyside

Prof. Steve Tombs, JMU Lecturer and Centre for Corporate Accountability

Chair. Ritchie Hunter, Merseyside Hazards and Environmental Centre

Sponsors:

Construction Safety Campaign Merseyside

Merseyside Hazards and Environmental Centre

Liverpool Trades Council