VICTORY ON BLACKLISTING – NOW IT IS TIME FOR JUSTICE

Major construction firms paid £50m to blacklisting victims to avoid questions in open court. The companies hope this will 'draw a line' under the long-running scandal. But some top bosses may yet end up answering charges, this time for perverting the course of justice as they tried to cover their criminal tracks.

2015

Will we survive
another five years?

In just one term, the Conservatives: abandoned routine safety inspections · slashed the Health and Safety Executive's (HSE) budget by well over a third · pimped out HSE to commercial interests · killed off HSE's medical division · stacked the HSE board with industry stooges · pulled the teeth of the gangmasters' watchdog · priced sick and injured workers out of compensation claims · made employment tribunals pay-per-go · removed key legal safety protections · told business that health and safety was a burden they shouldn't be bothered by. If you think that's bad, wait to see what they have in store...

Deaths at work? Tell Cameron we won't take them lying down. #OHSforTories

2016 post Brexit MAYDAY MAYDAY for Health & Safety?

Dear Prime Minister

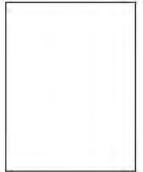

We warmly welcome your determination to tackle inequalities across society.

One of the most damaging inequalities is in occupational health and safety, which contributes greatly to the mortality and morbidity gulf between rich and poor.

Effective regulation and strict enforcement of safety laws saves lives. Please do not neglect them.

Use Brexit to improve not erode health and safety protection for all workers.

Yours sincerely

Prime Minister Theresa May
